

Connect your mobile workforce with Dropbox Business

Leading companies often require additional mobile productivity and collaboration capabilities. Using Dropbox Business, users and teams can seamlessly access content and collaborate across desktop, web, and mobile.

Case Study:
Brandt Construction

Extensions demo

- There are many challenges for the today's mobile workforce. Keeping team members on the same page, managing contracts and receipts, accessing business critical content effectively, using applications across multiple devices and operating systems, and security and control of IP are all issues users and IT professionals need to continuously keep in mind.
- Dropbox can help. Dropbox is rated by Gartner as a leader in helping businesses solve content collaboration challenges. Dropbox has developed and continues to enhance an easy to use secure application that solves for a variety of day to day collaboration challenges. Working in teams efficiently and effectively will deliver a best in class user experience and show organizations ROI.
- Dropbox can enhance several key verticals. Dropbox is a great fit for several mobile workflows, including professional services, construction, commercial lending, real estate, legal, and finance.

Want to learn more about how Dropbox can help your customers and drive recurring revenue for your organization? Please reach out to Andrew Randall (our dedicated Dropbox resource at D&H) at arandall@dandh.com.