

With the Recent Licensing Changes in the Industry — Now's the Time to Get Clarity

Turn Licensing Complexity into Clarity.

VMware licensing changes are leaving many IT leaders uncertain about the road ahead. Rising costs, shifting terms, and unclear usage data make it difficult to budget accurately or evaluate alternatives. The result is often overspending, misaligned licensing, and stalled planning cycles. To move forward with confidence, you need a clear, data-driven picture of your environment.

Why This Matters

Know Your Exposure:

Identify which workloads are most affected by licensing changes.

Reduce Costs:

Save on license fees with server consolidation.

Plan with Confidence:

Build a roadmap for optimization or migration before renewal deadlines.

1

The OneIQ Advantage

OneIQ delivers a fast, agentless assessment of your environment — providing full visibility into workloads, cost insights, and optimization opportunities in just hours. With clear dashboards and actionable reports, you'll walk into licensing discussions armed with facts instead of estimates.

2

Get Started Today

Launching an assessment is simple — go to www.oneiq.com, create a secure workspace, and start discovering your environment immediately. No long setup, no heavy software, and no cost.

3

Partner With Lenovo

Once your assessment is complete, the Lenovo team can help you quickly explore your options — whether that means right-sizing VMware, modernizing infrastructure, or considering alternative platforms. Together, OneIQ insights and Lenovo expertise give you speed, clarity, and a trusted path forward.

Run your OneIQ Assessment today to uncover your VMware licensing exposure, identify savings, and plan your next steps with confidence.